when an automobile in which they Ryan's car. The car failed to make

Scottdale Business Men Imprisoned for 'Stopping Payment on Fines' Check

C. A. Brillhart and R. S. Kessler Secure Freedom Under Habeas Corpus Writ.

PERMIT RULE VIOLATED

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTSDALE, June 9.—For stopping payment on checks for fines imposed for violating an ordinance regulating the issuance of permits, R. S. Kessler and C. A. Brillhart, Scottdale business men, were placed in the lockup Tuesday evening and spent the night there.

They were released Wednesday morning under bond following a habeas corpus hearing at Greensburg. The case will be heard in August court.

Several months ago, it was said,
Brillhart had received a sum of money on a lot on Broadway that A. J.
Taylor and others intended buying for a service station for some reason he did not make a deed to the lot not take any more money, but started building a service station on the lot himself. Taylor objected and at first one man built and the other tore down over night but later Kessler and Brill-hart finally got the building underway.

At this time Kessler and Brillhart made application to council for permission to make a turn-out from the building. The matter was brought up in council and council undertook to settle the dispute but gave no decision to Brillhart as to whether he might put in a turn-out or not.

Time after time, builders claim, they had seen the street committee and other members of council and could not get satisfaction in making the turnout. Being ready for the turn-out Tuesday and not knowing just what council would do or how long it would take them to do it Kessler and Brill-hart began putting in a turn-out without a permit. Chief of Police Frank Mc-Cudden was ordered to arrest the men. They were brought before Burgess B. C. Freese, charged with violating a borough ordinance, and were fined $50. A check was given Burgess Freese, and the prisoners were released. After being released they went to the bank and stopped payment on the $50 check.

When the borough officers found that payment had been stopped the men were again arrested and kept in the borough lockup over night.

Class Day Exercises Draw Immense Audience to Auditorium and Most Excellent Program Is Presented by Rejoicing Members of Student Body.

The class of 1921 of the Connellville high school gathers as a body for the last time in the auditorium tonight when the commencement exercises will be held and diplomas presented to the 78 graduates. The schools of the entire Connellsville district close today, all students receiving final report cards just after the noon assembly. There were no classes.

The members of the class gathered at the high school at 9:30 o'clock this morning and were assigned seats on the stage where they will sit for the exercises this evening. Pictures of the graduates in their caps and gowns were also taken this morning.

W. P. Russell.

The annual class day exercises were held last night, attracting an audience that was too large for the auditorium, many being compelled to stand.

The exercises were excellent throughout and provided amusement apart, especially fine were a reading by Mildred Elkes, a vocal solo by Ethelaine Rhodes, a whistling solo
by Esther Muir and Emma Jean Bu-fano, while the audience was assisted in having an encore of the solo number of Christine Davies but en-cores were not provided in the program. George Seaton and William Harvey created much amusement in their dialogue, "Ye O de Apple Tree."

Edgar Francis and Margaret Yohe appeared in the introduction of the program, presenting the "maids," Mabel Shank and Mabel Vance. The program was changed at this point, the solo by Miss Rhodes and the reading by Miss Elkes being introduced.

Then followed the "Review of 1921,"
with Ray Henry and Harriet Wilsh-ap appearing as typists and the four years of high school being represented by the seniors as follows: Prose-

THE REAL WAR CRIMINALS.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

That the meager results of the trials of the war criminals just concluded at Leipzig will be disappointing to all who have hoped that the Germans guilty of the shocking atrocities which appalled the world would receive their just deserts may be taken for granted. So far, the German tribunal is concerned, there is little room for criticism of its conduct of the cases brought before it, the greater ground of complaint being against the English officials for their choice of the criminals to be arraigned and their preparation of the evidence.

The disposition of the German submarine commander who sank the hospital ship, Dover Castle, was, however, especially unsatisfactory. The defendant was acquitted, not because the fact of the destruction of the hospital ship was denied, but mainly on the ground that he was obeying the orders of his government. He did not utter the opinion that the vessel was not following the course prescribed by the German authorities and his suspicion that it was not confining its operations strictly to the care of men wounded in naval operations alone. But his acquittal was solely on the ground that he was not responsible for the policies he was under obligation to carry out.

This instantly raises the question whether those who deliberately framed the orders under which the submarine commanders violated every rule of warfare and of humanity are not to be brought to justice. If the men who sank unarmed passenger vessels, leaving thousands to perish, are to go scot free, the trials of "war criminals" will be reduced to a ghastly farce. The minor sentences that have thus far been imposed at Leipzig are pitifully incommensurate with the greater crimes for which the German government stands arraigned, not before her own police courts, but before the bar of outraged civilization. It is the men who are directly responsible for the policy of frightfulness deliberately adopted as the most effective means of bringing the world under the feet of Germany's military leaders who ought to be brought to a realization of their guilt. This is not urged in any spirit of vindictive revenge, but as a matter of simple justice to those subordinate who have thus far been singled out for punishment, but who were far less responsible for the atrocities that were committed, deliberately and systematically, by entire armies, at the bidding of men who have yet to advance the slightest twinges of conscience or even to realize the enormity of their crime against humanity and civilization.

price was high. And today the people refused to buy. Yet should future generations there would still remain life and the strength to fight again.

But, said the speaker and his heart was sore. And all night he solemnly paced the floor. And all day long in his office place. Where he toiled, he saw but a sick child's face. And he prayed, "O God, 'Take fame and wealth, and give me health. But save my baby and give her health."

Kirley Bunch Will Give Independents Hot Fight Saturday

Any doubts as to the strength of the P. E. Kirley baseball aggregation, which line up with the Connellsville Independents Saturday at Fayette Field, can be set aside, since the receipt of a letter from the Pittsburgh Press, wherein is stated the line-up of the team.

The Kirley bunch will come well "heeled" to give the locals a hard contest. The probable line-up will include: Cooper, catcher; Kelly, pitcher; Rhine, short; Klark, first; Keefe, second; Murphy third; Boff, Ruppert and Taffey, outfielders. Murphy, the third sacker, is a noted home-run batter, the "Babe" Ruth of the Independent circuit. All the other players are well known on account of their baseball ability.

That Connellsville will not have an easy time with the visitors can be judged by the fact that yesterday the Kirleys hooked up with the stellar Allegheny Steel outfit, Jack Onslow's club, as a rule, only plays teams capable of giving the Steelers a hard battle. This evidently was one of the reasons why Onslow hooked the opponents of the Independents for next Saturday.

UNIONTOWN GAME WITH LOCALS CANCELLED
Because of failure to put up winning ball and, withal, an overcast sky, the Uniontown Independents have lost the opportunity to get some easy money from the Connellsville Independents, as the manager of the locals has cancelled the game which was scheduled to take place between these two clubs on Saturday, the 25th.

The cracker-jack team that the local Independents can truthfully brag about this season will undoubtedly draw a good crowd out to Fayette Field Saturday. It is evident that Connellsville has one of the best line-ups ever assembled here.

CHRIS WAGNER TO ERECT

FAYETTE FIELD SCORE BOARD
Popular Chris Wagner, who operates the Saison at Paramount theatre, is having erected a mammoth score board for the Connellsville Independents at Fayette Field. The board will measure 12 by 14 feet and the numbers registering the run by innings, will be one foot square. The big score board will be placed between left and middle fields, on an angle with the fence. This will enable every one seated in the grandstand and bleachers, to keep tab on the game without any difficulty. "We'll say Chris Wagner is a live wire," says the Connellsville Independents' manager.

YANKER SCHEDULE FULL
ITS MAXIMUM WRITES
In a letter to the management of the Connellsville Independents, E. G. Barrow, business manager of the New York Americans says in regard to an exhibition game here:

"We have your letter of the 2nd relative to an exhibition game at Connellsville. We have no open dates this month, and all of those occurring on our trips east and west have already been booked, so that, at present, it does not appear that we can take up the proposition. However, if there should develop any change in the situation we will bear you in mind."

Ridge, who played two years with the Pittsburgh Collegians, a catcher and a heavy batter, has been signed by the Connellsville Independents. He will probably play in the outfield. He is now located here. The young man is a son of Contractor P. J. Ridge who will re-surface Arch and Apple streets.

The First Presbyterian church will play the Covenanters at Fayette Field tomorrow evening. The Presbyterians have not played a full game yet this season, have interfered in their contest with the Methodists. The Covenanters were defeated by the United Presbyterians.

Getting Along Good.

Women are as great sufferers from kidney and bladder ailments as men. Foley Kidney Pills help rid the blood stream of impurities that cause rheumatic pains, backache, swollen, aching joints and stiff, painful muscles. Mrs. Carey, Box 91, R. F. D. No. 2, Middletown, N. Y., writes: "I had kidney trouble ever since I was a little girl, but I am getting along good since I have taken Foley Kidney Pills." They act immediately and help restore the kidneys to healthful activity. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Miss Morris of Star Junction was a business caller here Wednesday. Mr. Paulson of the State Highway Department, Uniontown, was a business caller in town Wednesday. The Hickory Bottom road has been closed. Work on the road is progressing satisfactorily, but it is expected that it will not be opened for traffic for several months. DARLING BABY
BRIGHTENS HOME

Children's Laughter a Pleasing Sound

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nine days after birth they were dead. I had my next one was born I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody."—Mrs. C. W. BENZ, 181 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Janasen's experience of interest to childless wives.

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we were married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nice, strong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all the credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSEN, Millston, Wis.

Mrs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. My doctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame my weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been married nine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. HELD, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

There are many, many such homes that were once childless, and are now blessed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it acts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregularities, displacements, weakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken with perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable to secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a child's old age, ask her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health and happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Back of this new standard of prices is a bit of history. Last September the Franklin cut its price drastically. A remarkable sales record followed. For months past Franklin business has required normal capacity production. Since December last, there has not been on hand at the factory at any one day more than three days' production of cars.

This favorable situation has effected economies which make possible the present revision, thereby creating a new opportunity for purchasers, and again emphasizing the proven advantages of Franklin performance—

Bendiner's Big Sale.

Police helped take care of the big crowd at the opening of Bendiner's wonderful sale. Early this morning crowds were waiting at the door. It is very evident that the sensational prices and the wonderful display of entire stock is placing this sale far in advance of any effort ever attempted in this vicinity. Mr. Bendiner realizes that a loss must be taken and is making it short. At the prices quoted this stock will soon be closed out. Bendiner's Ladies' Store, as you get off the car.—Advertisement.

Junior-Senior Banquet.

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held in the hall of the high school building last evening and was followed by a dance at Reid hall at which place younger members of the alumni were present. The tables and hall were beautifully decorated in blue and gold. Covers were laid for 130.

The affair was in charge of Miss Myers of the domestic science department and Miss Herbert, also of the high school faculty. Paul Strickler was toastmaster, and toasts were given as follows: "There's Food for Thought in This," James Walters, president of the class of '21; "At Last We Are Seniors," Thelma Rush; "They Call Us the Has-Beens," William McGowan; "Can You Blame Us for Loving Them?" Mildred Vahner; "There's Now a William Copely of the faculty," "The Same Friends Are Here," O. P. Ballantine, principal of the high school; "What a Feast!" James R. Campbell, of the school board; "Lest We Forget," J. N. Waugaman, principal of the schools.

The juniors had as their guests the seniors, members of the high school faculty and their wives and the mothers of the school board and their wives. There was music during the evening.

Foley Cathartic Tablets have long been a favorite physic with men. # MAN FOR THE AGES

A STORY OF THE BUILDERS OF DEMOCRACY
BY IRVING BACHELLER

COPYRIGHT IRVING BACHELLER

Samson answered: "If you're nice to us, I don't know but we'll call ye 'Abe' again, just for a few days. You can't expect us to go too far with a man who associates with judges and generals and governors and such trash. If you keep it up, you're bound to lose standing in our community."

"I know I've changed," said Abe. "I've grown older since Ann died—years ago—but I don't want you fellows to throw me over. I'm on the same level that you are and I intend to stay there. It's a fool notion that men go up some heavenly stairway to another plane when they begin to do things worth while. That's a kind of feudalistic twaddle. The wise man keeps his feet on the ground and lifts his mind as high as possible. The higher he lifts it, the more respect he will have for the common folk. Have either of you seen McNamara since he got back?"

"I saw him the day he drove into the village," Harry answered. "He was expecting to find Ann and make good his promise to marry her."

"Poor fool!" It was a sad story all around," said Abe Lincoln. "He's not a bad fellow, I reckon, but he broke Ann's heart. Didn't realize what a tender thing it was. I can't forgive him."

In the middle of the afternoon they came in sight of the home of Henry Brimstead.

"Here's where we stop and feed, and listen to Henry's secrets," said Samson.

The level fields were cut into squares outlined by wooden stakes. Brimstead was moving the grass in his dooryard. He dropped his scythe and came to welcome the travelers.

"Say, don't you know that you are standing in the center of a large and promising city?" he said to Samson. "You are standing at the corner of Grand avenue and Rimpire street, in the growing city of El Dorado, near the great water highway of Illinois," Brimstead declared.

"Where's the growin'?" Samson demanded.

Brimstead came closer and said in a confidential tone: "If you stand right where you are, listen, you'll hear it growin'."

"It sounds a good deal like a turnip growin'," Samson remarked, thoughtfully.

"Give it a fair chance," Brimstead went on. "Two cellars have been dug over there in the pasture. One is for the town hall and the other for the university which the Methodists are going to build. A railroad has been surveyed and is expected this summer. Every corner lot has been sold and paid for, half cash and half notes."

"The brokers in Chicago got the cash and you got the notes?"

"You've said it. I've got a drawer full of notes."

"And you're quit farmin'?"

"Say, I'll tell ye the land has gone up so it wouldn't pay. Pensesy an' I cal'ate that we're goin' to get rich this summer sellin' lots."

"Wake up, man. You're dreamin'," said Samson.

Harry came close to Samson and said in a confidential tone: "Say, maybe the whole state is dreamin' an' yellin' in its sleep 'bout canals an' schools an' factories an' mills an' railroads. We're havin' a good time, anyway."

This reminded Abe Lincoln of the story:

"There was a man in Pope county who came home one evening and sat down in the middle of the barn floor and began to sing. His wife asked him:

"Are you drunk or crazy or a fool?"

"I don't know what you'd call it, but I know I ain't got a darn bit to spare," he answered, with a whoop of joy.

"You're all goin' to roll out o' bed and sit on the floor with a bump," said Samson.

Brimstead declared in his usual tone of confidence:

"The worst part o' bein' a fool is losin'oneself. I was the only one in this valley. Now I shall be in the company of a governor an' dozens of well known statesmen. You'll be the only lone-some man in Illinois."

"I sometimes fear that he will enjoy the loneliness of wisdom," said Honest Abe.

In some parts of the state every farmer owns his own private city. Samson declared: "I hope Henry Brimstead does as well raising cities."

Samson answered: "If you're nice to us, I don't know but we'll call ye 'Abe' again, just for a few days. You can't expect us to go too far with a man who associates with judges and generals and governors and such trash. If you keep it up, you're bound to lose standing in our community."

This reminded Abe Lincoln of the story:

"There was a man in Pope county who came home one evening and sat down in the middle of the barn floor and began to sing. His wife asked him:

When Baby has the Colic, and the poor little sufferer cries out with agony in Mother's arms and refuses to be quiet,

DR. HAND'S Colic Remedy

will quickly soothe the pain and bring relief and rest. The wise mother has a bottle in the house always ready for emergencies.

What a Mother says:—

"Our three month old baby had the Colic so bad I was hard to hold him. He cried all the time. We tried everything we could think of. Nothing seemed to do him any good until we tried your Colic Remedy, and in five minutes he went to sleep. I know it gave relief to my baby and will recommend it to any mother."

Elkhart, Ind.

diamond in his shirt-front was leading a horse back and forth in the stable yard. The diamond led Samson to suspect that he was the man Davis of whom Mrs. Brimstead had spoken. Our travelers, not liking the look of the place, got some oats and rode on, camping near the farther edge of the woods, where they built a fire, fed and tethered their horses and sat down and ate from the store in their saddlebags.

Then with their knives Abe and Samson cut big armfuls of grass from the near prairie for the horses and a bed upon which the three men lay down for the night.

Samson had that gift of "sleeping with one eye open" which the perils of the wilderness had conferred upon the pioneer. He had lain down on the side of their bed near the horses, which were tethered to trees only a few feet away. He had gone to sleep with his pistol under his right hand. Late in the night he was awakened by an unusual movement among the horses. In the dim light of the fire he could see a man in the act of bridling Abe's horse.

"Hold up your hands," Samson shouted as he covered the man with his pistol. "If ye stir a foot I'll bore a hole in ye."

"The man threw up his hands and stood still.

In half a moment Abe Lincoln and Harry had run up and captured the man and the loaded horse.

An Advertisement Helped Her.

Mrs. Lucille Mackey, 16 Buena Vista street, Washington, Pa., writes:

"Last winter my three-year-old girl caught a bad cold which left her with a dry cough. It bothered her most at night and she would cough until she vomited. I think she must have had whooping-cough. I saw an advertisement for Foley's Honey and Tar. I tried it and bought two bottles and her cough left her before she finished the second bottle. She had gotten awfully thin, but now she is as fat as ever." Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Every family should keep this preparation at hand ready for instant use when needed. Severe attacks of colic and cholera morbus often prove fatal before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The uniform success that has attended the use of this remedy and the prompt relief which it has effected have made it a staple article of trade.—Advertisement.
